Growing up Pro-Life

By Fr. Frederick Edlefsen

"Back in the 1970's, mom and dad got involved in the "Right to Life" movement. Nothing strident. But they were grieved when the Supreme Court greenlighted the violation of unborn babies. Mom was an artist, empathic to all things delicate, vulnerable, and small. She contemplated everything's soul. Dad taught high school English and Drama. He had a soft spot in his heart for the riffraff, personally choosing a group he called the "dirty dozen" to star in Mash, a play he directed based on the popular sitcom.

Perhaps dad's connection with the "dirty dozen" was influenced by his radio days at WNNJ in Newton, New Jersey. People opened up to him. It was the late 1960s. As a radio DJ and newsman, he accompanied military personnel to inform parents of their son's death in Vietnam. What would a young radio man say at such a grievous moment? He made a delicate request: "Tell me about your son." The parents opened up. They had something to tell the whole world – about their son.

During Gulf Coast vacations, mom combed beaches for seashells, contemplating their intricate colors, curves, and textures. She often sketched or water-colored them. Her moral conscience expressed these sensibilities: destroying intricate beauty was repugnant. Nature's sacraments reveal God's mind. But, in our rough-spoken world, the seashells of human life were being smashed before the ocean of God could craft their beauty.

One Advent, my Catholic high school collected gifts for needy children. Mom, dad, and I brought our presents to a poor family. But when we entered their apartment, the family's father expressly turned his back on us, perhaps in shame or resentment. But the mom and children accepted the presents. In truth, I still feel conflicted and convicted by the experience. Yes, it opened my eyes to a social problem. But social problems are also very personal. They intimately touch upon a person's dignity. Decades have since passed, and I'm still processing this.

Once a baby comes from the womb into the world, it must be given life again and again and again. Even a father who must watch his children receive charity needs to be given life. Being pro-life is more than stopping death. It's affirmative. Giving life – again and again and again – is a way of life. That's what I learned from growing up pro-life.

Welcome

DID YOU KNOW?

Guided by the Holy Spirit, the Church recognizes the existence of Seven Sacraments instituted by the Lord. They are:

- ◆ THE SACRAMENTS OF INITIATION: Baptism, Confirmation, the Eucharist
- ◆ THE SACRAMENTS OF HEALING: Penance and the Anointing of the Sick, and
- ◆ THE SACRAMENTS AT THE SERVICE OF COMMUNION: Marriage and Holy Orders.

Through the Sacraments, God shares his holiness with us so that we, in turn, can make the world holier.

VOCATIONS, STEWARDSHIP & MORE

Stewardship Reflection

“John answered them all, “I baptize you with water; but he who is mightier than I is coming... he will baptize you with the Holy Spirit...” Luke 3:16

The Catholic Catechism states that “Jesus’ immersion in the water is a sign for all human beings of the need to die to themselves to do God’s will.” In other words, as baptized Catholics there is only one gift that we need to give to Jesus—the gift of ourselves.

Surrender yourself to God, place your trust in Him and allow the Holy Spirit to work through you for the greater glory of God.

Creciendo Pro-Vida

Por el P. Frederick Edlefsen

En la década de 1970, mis padres se involucraron en el movimiento del "Derecho a la Vida". No eran militantes. Pero sí les causo una gran pena cuando la Corte Suprema dio luz verde contra toda protección legal para los bebés no nacidos. Mi madre era una artista, empática con todas las cosas delicadas, vulnerables y pequeñas. Ella contemplaba el alma de todo. Mi padre enseñaba inglés y teatro en una escuela secundaria. El prefería trabajar con jóvenes "problemáticos", eligiendo personalmente a un grupo de ellos (la "docena sucia"), para protagonizar una obra de teatro basada en una popular comedia de televisión.

Tal vez la conexión de mi padre con la "docena sucia" fue influenciada por sus días en la radio en WNNJ en Newton, Nueva Jersey. Mi padre inspiraba mucha confianza. Era finales de la década de 1960. Como locutor de radio y periodista, él acompañaba al personal militar cuando tenían que informar a los padres de la muerte de su hijo en Vietnam. ¿Qué diría un joven de radio en un momento tan doloroso? El hacía una petición delicada: "Hábleme de su hijo". Los padres obedecían. Ellos tenían algo que contar sobre su hijo al mundo entero.

Durante las vacaciones en la costa, mamá peinaba las playas en busca de conchas marinas, contemplando sus intrincados colores, curvas y texturas. A menudo las dibujaba o pintaba en acuarelas. Su conciencia moral daba expresión a estos sentimientos: es repugnante destruir la belleza intrínseca de un ser. Los sacramentos de la naturaleza revelan el pensamiento de Dios. Pero en nuestro mundo tosco, las conchas marinas de la vida humana están siendo destruidas antes de que el mar de Dios pueda crear su belleza.

Durante una temporada de Adviento, mi escuela hizo una colecta para niños necesitados. Mis padres y yo llevamos nuestros regalos a una familia pobre. Pero cuando entramos en su apartamento, el padre de la familia nos dio la espalda, tal vez por vergüenza o resentimiento. Pero la madre y los niños aceptaron los regalos. Todavía me siento en conflicto y convicto por esta experiencia. Sí, me abrió los ojos a un problema social. Pero los problemas sociales también son muy personales. Tienen una relación íntima con la dignidad de la persona. Han pasado décadas desde ese entonces, y todavía pienso en este momento.

Una vez que un bebé nace del vientre materno y viene al mundo, se le debe afirmar su vida una y otra vez. Incluso un padre que debe ver a sus hijos recibir caridad necesita afirmación. Estar a favor de la vida es más que estar en contra de la muerte. Es afirmativo. Afirmar la vida, una y otra vez, es la manera de vivir. Eso es lo que aprendí al crecer a favor de la vida.

Reflexión de la Semana

“Juan entonces les respondió a todos: Yo, en verdad, los bautizo con agua; pero viene uno que los bautizará con el Espíritu Santo...” Lucas 3:16

El Catecismo Católico establece que “la inmersión de Jesús en el agua es un signo para todos los seres humanos de la necesidad de renunciar a sí mismos para hacer la voluntad de Dios’. En otras palabras, como católicos bautizados hay solamente un regalo que necesitamos darle a Jesús—el don de nosotros mismos. Ríndase ante Dios, coloque su confianza en Él y permita que el Espíritu Santo obre a través de usted para la mayor gloria de Dios.
